

Archeology and Labour Relations in Africa: A Workshop of the Global Collaboratory of Labour Relations 1500-2000, Preliminary Program
24 and 25 June 2013
Hotel Sao Mamede, Estoril

Sunday 23 June: 20.00 Welcoming dinner for those who already arrived, restaurant t.b.a.

Monday 24 June

9.15 Welcome with coffee and tea

Chair: Paul Lane

9.30 – 10.00 Karin Hofmeester/Jan Lucassen: Introduction to the project and the workshop, including an overview of what historians could and could not contribute to our knowledge based on written sources

10.00- 10.30 Filipa Ribeiro da Silva: Determoning Urban and Rural Labour – Mozambique 1800 and 1900

10.30-11.00 Jelmer Vos: Labour Relations in Angola 1800

11.00-11.15 Coffee and tea Break

11.15-11.45 Karin Pallaver, Labour Relations in Tanzania 1800-2000

11.45-12.45 Discussion

12.45-14.15 Lunch

Chair: Karin Hofmeester

14.15-14.45 Thomas Vernet: Early French & Portuguese sources of information concerning labour relations, with a special focus on coastal Tanzania

14.45-15.15 Paul Lane: Archeology as a source of information concerning labour relations, with a special focus on Tanzania interior

15.15-15.30 Coffee and tea Break

15.30-16.00 Mats Widgren: Mapping African agricultural systems AD 1000 to AD 1800: Some preliminary thoughts on labour relations

16.00-18.00 Discussion

20.00 Dinner

Tuesday 25 June

Chair: Jan Lucassen

9.30 – 10.00 Kate de Luna, Historical linguistics as a source of information concerning labour relations in Southern Africa

10.00-10.30 Simon Hall, Archeology as a source of information concerning labour relations in South Africa

10.30-10.45 Coffee and tea Break

11.00-11.30 paper by Innocent Pikirayi, Archeology as a source of information concerning labour relations in Zimbabwe, presented by Paul Lane

11.30-12.00 Scott MacEachern, Archeology and documentary information concerning labour relations in the Lake Chad Basin, AD 1500-1900

12.00-13.00 Discussion

Lunch 13.00-14.30

Chair: Jelmer Vos

14.30-15.00 Ibrahima Thiaw, Archeology as a source of information concerning labour relations in Senegal/Ivory Coast

15.00-16.30 General discussion, wrap up and future plans